

A „Magic box full of toys“

Written by Kostas Antoniou

Wednesday, 09 December 2009 00:00 - Last Updated Friday, 08 January 2010 07:58

---

Like a ship with pirates on the sea children will discover the Kids2Talk trunk box full of games and toys. It is like discovering a real box with most valuable treasures. The box is full of other boxes, bags and wooden parcels. For teachers and trainers a book explains how to use all games and toys. The book also comes with recommendations and information on multilingual methods of early childhood education.

Since all games and toys come in individual packing the box is safe for transportation. The big box may also be used to store cloth, may be a ship or a place to hide in. “Our children really like this big box”, says a teachers. There is so much to explore, so much to discover and to test. Some games do not need any explanation. They simply develop as soon as children start to touch them. Children start a journey discovering something new every time. They start to ask questions, get answers. Some games may also be prepared by trainers or tutors. There is a lot to talk about, to read, to sing, to compare between languages, there are stories to listen to, news to tell others about and of course there are many adventures full of languages in the box. All articles of the box can be replaced in case of something getting lost.