

For 12 months all Kids2Talk project products were piloted and refined in kindergartens and children's play groups in Austria, Germany, Greece and Romania. 650 children participated in the project. Children Councils in all partner countries were involved in the development, piloting and refinement of all games and toys. Children gave recommendations and directly reported their needs and requirements towards a successful game. Games were refined and underwent a new piloting. Several hundred questionnaires were being analyzed, observatory reports from piloting phases were discussed in order to produce all games in the final phase of the project.

All games come with instructions for teachers and tutors. Instructions are meant to be recommendations since all games and materials are flexible in their use. Many games may be used for alternative plays and joyful events. Many kindergartens are extremely happy with the new games and toys due to their innovative character, multiple use and unique quality.
